Dear The Federal Communications Commission,

I think the long distance fees should be based on the amount of calling you do. It shouldn't be the same for everyone. Why should someone who only makes 1-2 calls a month long distance (or even no long distance calls) pay the same amount in fees as someone who makes 10-20 long distance calls. It's not fair and it doesn't make sense!!!! It's just another way for businesses and corporations to get out of paying more.

Thank you and I hope you will realize what a mistake it would be to charge equal fees for everyone instead of having them based on the amount of calling they do.

Sincerely,

Jennifer Laitala
